Checklist: Death of an Employee

Stage One: Immediate Response and Communication

If death (or serious accident/illness) occurs at work:

[□ Call 911.
[☐ Call the employee's emergency contact person, if designated, or other known family member to advise of the situation.
[\square Send a spokesperson to the hospital to meet family.
[☐ Contact OSHA at 1-800-321-OSHA if death/accident is work-related.
[\square Notify employees/executives with most critical need to know first, including HR.
[\square Upon death, notify the remaining employees indicating details will be forthcoming.
[\square Follow existing internal procedures regarding contact with the media as needed.
[□ Be sensitive to the family and ask for the name of a contact person who can provide funeral details when known and arrange for benefits procedures to be completed when appropriate.
[☐ Designate an internal contact person for employees who have any questions or concerns to prevent employees from trying to contact the family directly.
If death occurs outside of work:
[\square Notify employees/executives with the most critical need to know first, including HR.
[\square Notify the remaining employees, indicating details will be forthcoming as available.

[\square Follow existing internal procedures regarding contact with the media as needed.
Stage Two: Handling Arrangements and Keeping Business Moving
[\square Notify customers/clients with direct relationships and reassign work as appropriate.
[\square Arrange to intercept and redirect phone, voicemail, email and mail communications.
[☐ Arrange grief counseling for employees through an EAP or local hospice. Provide grieving employees with time off as needed (immediately if they witnessed the death) preferably on a paid basis.

☐ Begin termination processing following normal procedures (see the section on benefits below).
☐ Have designated contact person keep track of all notes, flowers, etc. that arrive following the death so they can be responded to and collected for the family. Photographing flower arrangements received is an option when the family has suggested donations in lieu of flowers.
Planning for funeral/memorial service:
$\hfill \square$ Determine where to send flowers according to the family's wishes.
\square Inform employees if donations are requested in lieu of flowers.
Arrange for time off to attend the services. Consider the impact on business but also recognize that many employees may feel a need to attend the service. Be flexible and provide paid time off if at all possible.
□ Arrange for a special or lasting tribute or memorial taking into consideration the culture of the company, how well known the person was, employee suggestions, etc. Ideas include: holding a company service separate from the funeral, displaying a plaque in the office, creating a memory book for the family with notes and pictures from coworkers.
Consider creating a memorial fund/scholarship. Contact local financial institutions to find out what options exist in situations where there are a number of employees who wish to donate, young children left behind by the employee, etc.
Stage Three: After the Funeral/Final Wages/Benefits Processing
\square Locate beneficiary designations for all benefits.
\square Schedule time to meet with the employee's beneficiaries if possible.
- Conduit time to most with the employee o beneficiance in possible.
